

Guinea Mission School

Equipment Needed for a School Serving Missionary Children

A Variety of Electronic Equipment

Problem The mission school in Guinea, which was closed for several years due to a lack of teachers, strives to provide affordable, quality education for missionary children. Today, they have the teachers and the buildings, but they still need equipment to operate the school.

Benefit Providing the much-needed equipment for the mission school will enable parents to better focus on their church planting responsibilities. Having technological equipment will enable the school to provide a better education equivalent with that in the USA.

Total Cost    $35,000
